Hola Amigos y Amigas,

Greetings from your Rabinos y Cantor recently returning from our Temple expedition to the island nation of Cuba.

Over 70 members of Temple in two separate cohorts voyaged to Cuba in January and February and had some extraordinary experiences. We listened to wonderful Cuban street musicians; ate at Paladares (family owned home restaurants); witnessed the political history of Cuba through magnificent art (including Cuba's Mona Lisa, "The Tropical Gypsy"); delighted in an enthralling young percussion/dance ensemble playing on congas, drums and chairs while moving to the complex rhythms; visited Hemingway's manse in the hills; strolled through the charming bustling plazas of old Havana; rode along the city streets in vintage 1950's era Chevys; and listened to fascinating lectures on Fidel Castro, Che Guevara, the revolution, and the Jewish community of Havana and the greater history of the Jewish presence in Cuba over the centuries.

While there is good education with a relatively low illiteracy rate, free medical care and cheap public transportation, most Cubanos are still living hand-to-mouth with food rationing, buildings in disrepair and significant air pollution in Havana. In this communist nation the average worker earns under $40 a month. But with private enterprise and the tourist trade making its way into the economy, a doctor or university professor paid in Pesos by the Government earns far less than a hotel housekeeper, a guide or a restaurant owner.

Of course what made our trips "missions" was meeting and worshipping with these proud and vibrant Jewish communities currently established in greater Havana. Depending on who you are talking to, there are anywhere between 900-1300 Jews in all of Cuba. Though they have no ordained Jewish professionals to guide them, they are deeply loyal to the traditions, celebrate holidays at the appointed times, and pray each and every Shabbat from a Hebrew/Spanish siddur. As clergy, we participated in the music of the Friday night Shabbat service, we gave a d'var Torah, and attended Sunday school. The community truly seemed to enjoy our presence, and were grateful for the monetary donations we made, as well as medical supplies for their clinics. Though Cuba and Israel do not enjoy diplomatic relations to this day, there is no history of, nor present anti-Semitism.

There is no telling what exactly will befall Cuba as a nation, or the Jewish community there in the years soon to come. We visited at a very interesting "nexus point" between a land that time (and the world) seems to have forgotten, and what might well become a more westernized society in the not too distant future. We certainly came away with a renewed appreciation of what it means to live in a free society with a large robust Jewish community, and the timeless admonition: kol Yisrael aravim zeh b'zeh - "All Jews are responsible for one another."

We hope it will not be too long before we are again acquainted with our Cuban Jewish brothers and sisters, and will be keeping an eye on the developing relationship between Cuba, the United States and Israel.

Carlebach Shabbat Service with guest speaker Jessica Fishman

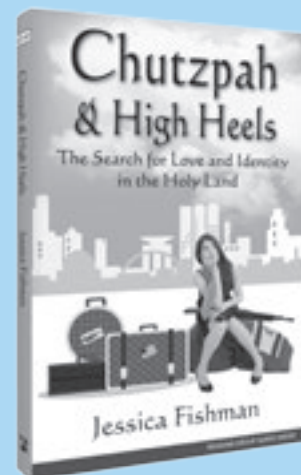

Friday, March 10, 6:00 p.m.

Chutzpah & High Heels: The Search for Love and Identity in The Holy Land

Jessica Fishman

Jessica Fishman made aliyah to Israel, but when the Israeli Rabbinate refused to consider her Jewish because her mother's conversion to Judaism was not an Orthodox conversion, she left The Holy Land. Jessica's memoir explores her deep love of Judaism and the hopes and dreams that brought her to Israel, which were ultimately undercut by the lack of Jewish pluralism in Israel. In an uplifting and humorous presentation, she will share her experiences of both humiliating and hysterical events of immigrating to Israel - from learning Hebrew and dealing with Israeli bureaucracy to joining the IDF. Jessica grew up in the Twin Cities and attended Temple's Preschool.

Highlights in Jewish History

Saturday, March 11, 10:30 – 11:30 a.m.

Join us for lively discussions of some of the most important events in Jewish history with Dr. Joseph Goldman.

Dr. Goldman, a noted historian, is a retired senior lecturer at the Carlson School of Management and lectures regularly at Temple Israel. Dr. Goldman holds PhDs in Political Science and History, and has been a university professor for over 40 years. He is the author of a recently published collection of short stories, Voices from a Distant Time, A Dark Place, based on Holocaust survivor testimonies. Highlights in Jewish History is free and open to all.

War Hawks, Peace Makers: Moshe Dayan and Ariel Sharon

When Moshe Dayan and Ariel Sharon are mentioned by historians of Israel, these men are remembered as great captains of war. Both men helped save Israel from defeat between 1948 and 1973 in her defensive conflicts against hostile Arab states or the Palestinian intifadas. Yet both were men of peace. Dayan promoted Israeli archaeology and served as an 'ex officio' adviser to several prime ministers when called upon for security strategy. Between 1982 and 2005 Sharon played many roles in the life of Israel; he became Prime Minister after serving as minister of defense, but was also a 'gentleman farmer' with a ranch in the Golan Heights. Learn more about these giants of Jewish history.

Minnesota Coalition for the Homeless Day on the Hill

Tuesday, March 14,

8:15 a.m. – 3:30 p.m.

One of the easiest and most powerful things you can do to influence the problem of homelessness is to ask your Minnesota legislators to address the problem. Whether you are a toddler or a great, great-grandparent, please come join Rabbi Glaser, members of the Temple Israel Committee to End Homelessness, and hundreds of others in the Minnesota Coalition for the Homeless at the Minnesota Capitol. We will meet with our state Senators and Representatives and ask them to support the Homes for All legislative agenda. This will truly make a difference in the lives of Minnesotans living without a home. Greater numbers of people visiting legislators results in a greater impact. If you are interested, contact Rabbi Glaser at 612-374-0315 or sglaser@templeisrael.com.

TURNING BACK

A tribute to Jeffrey Murman, 1947-2014

Gloria Marks Murman remembers her 11th grade year well. That was the year she dropped out of her synagogue post-confirmation class and missed it terribly.

For the rest of her life, Gloria has made up for that year by turning back to what she loves most—community, family and good causes.

Recently, Gloria made a donation to Temple Israel in memory of her late husband Jeffrey Murman, to support those things that she—and he—have cared about so deeply.

Gloria grew up at Mount Zion Temple in St. Paul, while future husband, Jeff, was active in his youth group at Mikro Kodesh Synagogue in north Minneapolis. The two met during Gloria's senior year in college and were married two years later.

Michelle, their first child, was born in 1979 and named at Mount Zion. By the time their second child, Julie, came along in 1983, the family had joined Temple Israel, which was closer to their St. Louis Park home. Julie was named at Temple, and then both children became B'not Mitzvah here. But then the whole family got busy with other things, and Temple fell off their radar.

Meanwhile, Gloria left an IT management job at Pillsbury, began a career at Jewish Family and Children's Service, was active in Hadassah and eventually became its chapter president. The family grew larger as daughter Michelle's best friend, Marci Wasserman, became a de facto third child and celebrated all the Jewish holidays and family gatherings with them.

Tragedy struck in 1990 when Jeff lost his eye to cancer. He became angry with God and disconnected from the synagogue. Thankfully he went into remission, but still only a family celebration would entice him to services. In 2001, three days after 9/11, Jeff retired from 33 years in the office supply industry, and he and Gloria began volunteering as election judges. Jeff would help out periodically with Hadassah projects, as well.

Some 20 years later, just when they discovered Jeff's cancer had returned, Gloria suffered a stroke. Fortunately, she recovered quickly but "this was a turning point for us," Gloria said. "When we needed Temple, Temple and the clergy were there for us."

Jeff began driving himself to Fridley for weekly chemo treatments. He celebrated his granddaughter Emily's birth in April 2012 and babysat three days a week until he was physically unable to do so. It was a huge blessing to be able to walk daughter Michelle down the aisle at her wedding in September 2012 and then later to celebrate Emily's first birthday.

"When Jeff got sick, he turned back to what was really important to him, and he talked about making a donation to Temple," Gloria said. "The synagogue helped shape him in his early years, and gave him comfort and solace in the end."

Jeff died on January 20, 2014, and Gloria has honored him with a gift to Temple. "Temple was a great comfort to him, and to me, and I want it to be there for others when they need it."

Steinfeldt Foundation: Supporting Jewish Education

A special thank you to The Oren and Sharron Steinfeldt Foundation for its long-standing support of Jewish education at Temple Israel and for a $15,000 grant that is supporting our students this 2016-2017 school year.

Over the years, Steinfeldt Foundation grants have impacted hundreds of children in the Temple Israel School. This school year, grant funding is supporting the JEWL program and providing education financial assistance for families experiencing financial hardship.

“As we continue to grow and innovate JEWL, Temple is making a space for our children to find meaning and make sense of the world through a Jewish lens,” said Senior Rabbi Marcia Zimmerman. “We are grateful to the Steinfeldt Foundation for its support, which has given our children the gift of Jewish wisdom and a Jewish heart.”

The Temple Israel School receives funding from the Steinfeldt Foundation, the Minneapolis Jewish Federation, the Temple Israel Foundation, the Temple Israel congregation, and school fees. Some 66% of education costs are covered by school fees. The remainder is covered by the congregation and generous funders.
